

No pets are allowed in the apartment building.

Goal condition

None

The managers of an apartment building are concerned that airborne allergens in the apartments will make the units less appealing to prospective tenants in the future.

The managers of an apartment building have received numerous noise complaints from residents.

The managers of an apartment building want to protect furniture, walls, and carpeting in units and common areas from potential damage.